One of the "oldest inhabitants" of Pre-Jackson, now a resident of a Northern State, thus writes to a friend heru:

"I notice that Tom Green retains his love for the Fire Department, and that he holds, as he deserves, the highest and most respon-sible office. I should also be very happy to know that the good old city of Jackson was lengthening her cords and strengthening her stakes, that she was growing in wealth, in husing a and pre-positions that lengthening her cords and strengthening her stakes, that she was growing in wealth, in business, and prosperity, but I learn that she languishes and hardly holds her own. Some writer in the last Clarion has suggested the only remedy for the decime in which she has fallen, and that is the introduction of cotton manufactures. But to accomplish this, don't wait for Northern capital. Put your own shoulders to the wheel, and make this, don't wait for Northern capital. Put your own shoulders to the wheel, and make a beginning. The country will soon enable any company to enlarge, buy more machinery, and grow up into large proportion. The beasted capital of the North is in the hands of a small number of men, and is so profitably employed in Wall street in buying up and controlling the great transportation lines, and in buying up also the courts, judges and legislatures of New York, that there is none to spare to develop the re-

> Would respectfully call your attention to this well-established Institution. A Southern Company, chartered by the Legislature of Tennessee, with a Capital sufficient o make her reliable beyond any question, and doing a strictly Life Insurance business, and

Profiting by the published experience of the largest and most successful Life Insurance companies of Europe and America, we have adopted the most liberal plans in our government. Our success up to the present time has been far above our most sanguine expectations, and is such that it places the Carolina Life Insurance Company as a permanent, reliable Institution of our section. Our accumulations already reach Six Hundred and Forty Thousand Dollars; honce we can with entire confidence, recommend our Company to all who desire to insure their lives, with full confidence as to its entire reliability; and as your insurance will cost you no more, we feel that our Home Institution may justly claim your patronage in preference to all others. Southern enterprise should be encouraged, and there is no way in which this can be more effectually done than to invest your earning in such reliable Home Institutions as will loan it om, or proper security, to such enterprising men as will use it in the development of the Agricultural. Manufacturing and Commercial resources of your section; and especially is this true of Life Insurance Premiums, for these paid now are to create large accumulations at the parent 9 office, to pay losses to occur through many future years.

We give a partial list of those persons who have insured in this Company:
